School Examination.—A large assemblage gathered at the colored school house on Pitt street, between Gibbon and Franklin, at one o'clock yesterday, to witness the annual examination of Snowden School. The examiners were Messrs. Wm. F. Carne, and Oscar C. Whittle-sey, and Mr. G. Edwin Entwisle of the City School Board was also in attendance, besides Mayor Latham, Mr. E. Snowden, jr., City Superintendent Carne, Mr. E. E. Harper, of Custis School, Col. Shay, late Principal of Washington School, and several white ladies connected with the public and other schools. The colored people showed a very great interest in the examination, a very large number of the parents and friends of the pupils being present, besides many of the prominent colored residents, such as George L. Seaton of the House of Delegates, and Rev. Messrs. Madden and Davis, Wm. Gray, and others.

A large room in the second story was handsomely decorated with flag and evergreens, and the school under the charge of Wm. F. Powell and Misses Sarah A. Gray and Carrie Claggett, presented a very neat and orderly appearance. the children responding instantly to the bell signals. The examinations showed considerable proficiency, and considering the fact that most of the older pupils had been compelled to withdraw in the spring, to go to work, the auswers given to the questions asked, some of them quite difficult, reflected great credit on both teachers and pupils. During the exercises, the pup Is sang several pieces with much spirit. Mayor Latham took great interest in the proceedings, assisting personally in the examination, and at its close, he made a very excellent practical address to the children. Mr. Snowden ir. made also very appropriate remarks, urging the pupils to lay a good foundation, and particularly to learn to spell well, and read. Messrs. W. F. Carne and Whittlesey, expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the examination, and spoke words of encouragement to both parents and children. George L. Seaton then spoke contrasting the few opportunities he had had with those now enjoyed by colored children, and urging them to improve gate. those opportunities, and especially to be good and honest. He was followed by Rev. Mr. Davis. who urged harmony among his people, and a hearty support of the school system. Rev. Mr, Madden then made some very sensible remarks and was followed by the Principal, who read the following: At a meeting of the teachers of Hallowell and Snowden Schools the following were unanimously adopted: Resolved, That the teachers of Hallowell and Snowden schools, in severing the ties that have bound them in official intercourse to Mr. Richard L. Carne, Supt. of Schools for this city and county, do tender to him our sincere thanks for the efficient and impartial manner he has conducted the interests of Education, as well as his uniform courtesy and kindness to each teacher of the schools; and in this, our retiring hour, we hail in him an able officer, whose single aim is piness and prosperity.

Resolved. That we request that these resolu-tions be printed in the Alexandria, Washington and Richmond papers.

The City Superintendent briefly replied, thanking the teachers for their appreciation of his labors; he did not work for the applause of any man, but simply to do his duty; still the approbation of his fellow men was always pleasant to him, and would give him great encouragement for the future. He proposed going. in a tew days, on a long journey, to see how school matters were managed elsewhere, and he hoped to return a better Superintendent, capable of instructing both teachers and pupils in their work, better than he now could. He then gave the necessary instructions about reentering, and, in conclusion, exhorted the children to remember, while they applied diligent- town College, all started homeward much gratly to their studies, that it was not the mind | ified with the pleasures of the day. alone which was to be educated. but, more than all, the heart. Obedience to their parents was their first duty, and to despise them because they were poor and ignorant would be the basest ingratifude, for few people had ever made sacrifices to elevate their children above their own condition, greater than many colored people were now making. Because the Commonwealth could not, on account of the great diversity of views on the subject, authorize the teaching of religion in her schools, they must not therefore understand that religion was ignored or slighted. On the contrary, the very article of the Constitution which forbade that any man should be compelled to frequent any religous worship, expressly stated that it was that all might be left to worship God after their own manner. They should therefore be assiduous in attending their respective Sunday schools and churches, and learning their religious duties, that their school education might be to them a blessing and not a curse.

Premiums were then given by the Principal through Mayor Latham, to George Davis and Emanuel Alexander of the 1st Class, and Calvin Browner and Frederick Davis of the 2d Class. The Superintendent's medal, for the best boy, was awarded to George Davis.

[COMMUNICATED] On the evening of the 22d, the writer of this had the pleasure of attending the Commencement at the Mt. Vernon Institute. Alexandria, Va. The spacious hall was densely crowded with ladies and gentlemen, mostly parents, relatives and friends of the pupils. The exercises were conducted by gentlemen who did not seem to be at a loss in the slightest degree; and it is but justice to say that the young ladies all, from the graduates to the smallest in school, acquitted themselves by singing and playing, in a most creditable manner. The valedictory, which was delivered by one of the graduating class, was addressed to the young ladies of the school and to their justly popular teacher, in a manner which would have done credit to a much older head. In a word, the exercises gave the utmost satisfaction to all present, and, after a brief but eloquent address by one of the Professors in George-

Theological Seminary, June 23.
